Another Death in New Orleans .-One death has occurred since the official report, and of the four, three are Italians. The neighborhoods in which the poor Sicilians live are thickly settled and very dirty, and the board of health has recognized the necessity of removing and isoating these people so as to take away so much food for infection. A camp of detention was established at Oakland park, but the Italians refuse to go there, deeming it a plot to do them harm, even fearing poisonous food. Leading citizens of their own race went among them and argued that their going to the place was one of self preservation and some fifty were taken out. They are now highly pleased with their quarters.

Citizens Ejected the Sisters. Mayor Flower today, with the consent of the school board, set aside the Beauregard school as a fever hospital for the needy. Dr. Bloom and the sisters of the Charity hospital went out this evening to take charge, but were ejected by a mob of citizens in the vicinity.

Police are guarding the school against harm tonight in view of the incendiarism threatened. Mayor Flower is determined and trouble may follow as the section is panic stricken and say no hospital shall be established

LATER, 1:20 a. m.-The Beauregard school building, which it was proposed to use as a fever hospital, and which a mob threatened to burn down, was destroyed by fire at 1 o'clock tonight, although it was guarded by police. It was formerly a fine residence, occupying a square of ground out on Canal street, near the cemeteries.

'Atlanta, Ga., September 23, 1897 .- In view

"Atlanta, Ga., September 23, 1897.—In view of the fact that the board of health has promised to state freely and frankly to the public the exact status of yellow fever in Atlanta, we deem it our duty to publish the following statement:

On the 16th instant there came to Atlanta from Mobile a young girl, Carrie Fleming, accompanied by her father and mother. On Monday, 20th instant, she was taken sick, was seen by some physician whose name is unknown to the board, on Monday, who called again next day, found her better and dismissed the case. On Wednesday, 22d instant, Dr. T. D. Longino was called in and considered the case rather suspicious. Dr. J. C. Olmsted was called in this afternoon and in conjunction with Dr. Longino made a positive diagnosis of yellow fever. The case seems to be very mild and the indications point to recovery.

"The patient, her father and mother and other individuals from Mobile who were in the house have been placed under strict quarantine. The board of health does not consider that there is the least danger of any Atlantian or other individuals not exposed in infected cities contracting the disense; nor is it surprised at the development of this case, having anticipated that such sporadic cases would occur.

"By order of the board of health.

"IAMES F. ALEXANDER. President.

"FLOYD W. M'RAE, Secretary."

A very mild case of yellow fever was reported to the board of health yesterday from 119 Auburn avenue, by Dr. T. D. Longino. The sick person is Carrie Fleming, fourteen-year-old girl from Mobile, and the house has been placed under strict quarantine

The fact that a case of yellow fever has been brought to Atlanta from the infected district will be no surprise and physicians and members of the board of health have been expesting it for some time.

In almost every instance where there have been epidemics in Savannah, Brunswick, Mobile and New Orleans refugees ming from these places have been taken sick with the fever and it has not spread. The board feels no uneasiness on account of the presence of this sporadic case. At present there are cases in Louisville, New York and St. Louis, developing among refugees from infected points, and every physician in the city has been expecting similar cases here. Not the slightest fear of its spreading is felt.

The young girl who has the fever came from Mobile on the 16th, accompanied by her father and mother. They lived near the place where Wyatt, who died of the fever there, died. They refugeed to Atlanta, knowing its climate would not allow an epidemic of the fever.

The family of Flemings were formerly residents of Atlanta and moved from here three years ago and took up their residence in Mobile. The young eld was taken sick last Mon day and a physician was called in. He treated her and when he called to see her Tuesday found her so much better that he dismissed the case. On Wednesday Dr. T. ing the patient came to the conclusion that the case was rather suspicious. He has had no experience with yellow fever and was not certain that it was such a case that he

Case Reported to Board.

In compliance with the regulations of the board of health, he reported the suspicous case to Dr. James Alexander, the president. Dr. J. C. Olmsted, who has had experience with the fever, was requested by the board to visit the sick girl and make a diagnosis of the case. He went yesterday afternoon and after making an examination of the patient pronounced her illness to be yellow fever. The case, he said, was ad vanced in the second stage and everything appeared favorable for the recovery of the child.

Dr. Stone, of Savannah, who is here i the interest of that city, was invited to visit the case. He went yesterday afternoon and it took him only a few minutes to verify the diagnosis of Dr. Olmsted, made earlier in the day. As soon as Dr. Olmsted pronounced the little girl sick with yellow fever the members of the board of health were called in special session, but the object of the eeting was not announced to them.

Board Meeting Last Night. At 8 o'clock last night Dr. Alexander Mayor Collier, Dr. McRae, Dr. Avary and Captain Miller, of the board of health, met in the office of Chief Veal, who was also present, as were Drs. Olmsted and Stone. Dr. Alexander called the meeting to orde and told the members the object of it. He explained that the sick person had come from Mobile and that there was no likeli hood of any one else catching the disease. In the house, which is a boarding house are several other people from Mobile who came from the same part of the city as He asked the board what was thought best to do with the case and how it should handled. Dr. Olmsted told the board of how he had diagnosed the case and assured them that it was a genuine case of the yellow jack. He said that there was not the slightest danger of any At lantian catching the disease, on account of

Dr. Stone to the Board. Dr. Stone also spoke to the board. He told what would be done were the case in Savannah and spoke entirely from a Savannah standpoint. In Savannah the house would be strictly quarantined. It was proposed to quarantine the hous and the mother and father of the child and to send those who had been exposed to the fever to the camp of detention This was stated by the physician members of the board to be absolutely unnecessary, and they held that no one should be quarantined except the sick child and her parents and the other persons from

This course was decided on and Chief Veal at once placed a guard around the premises, and this morning all persons who are in the house who have not been to the infected districts will not be obliged to remain. The Mobilians will be compelled to remain in the house and signs will be placed about it to notify people that the yellow fever exists there. "No Danger," Says McRae.

ATLANTA, GA., FRIDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 24, 1897.-TEN PAGES

Dr. McRae, in addressing the board, held that there was absolutely no danger in allowing the Atlantians at the house to leave it, and said he believed there was not the slightest possibility of any of them having the fever. It was admitted by the board that the people from Mobile might develop the disease, and as a precautionary measure it was decided to make them remain in quarantine.

Dr. Olmsted announced that if the girl who has the disease is moved there will be no chance for recovery. As matters now stand it seems that she will get well. since the fever she has is of a mild type. If necessary immune persons will be ob tained to nurse her.

The board expressed no surprise at the fact that the fever has developed in one of the refugees, and it has been a surprise to many that it has not developed before. Dr. Stone announced to the board that he has advised Savannah not to quarantine against Atlanta unless more cases of yellow fever develop.

Will Fumigate the House.

The house where the fever exists will be fully and thoroughly fumigated and there seems at present to be no reason why other cases should develop in the house. Those who are experienced in yellow fever epidemics, such men as Dr. Olmsted, say that it is not necessary for the citizens of Atlanta to become uneasy about the fever, because it is entirely in control of the board, and the fact that this case was discovered so soon shows that the board is keeping a keen watchout and there is no danger of a case developing among the refugees without the hoard having full cognizance of the fact.

After the disposition of the case was decided the board issued a statement to the public, which is published above. It shows that there is no need for alarm, and the board assures the public that everything in regard to the fever will be made public at once and nothing will be withheld.

Mr. DeLeon Not Surprised. Mr. T. C. DeLeon, the well-known writer of Mobile, said last night, when he heard of the case of Miss Fleming: "It is just what was to be expected, of course." said he. "There is not the slightest bit of danger. The disease cannot spread. Atlanta may expect similar esses among those who have been exposed in infected points. Such a thing has occurred in every epidemic that has been known. There is no danger in the world of a spread in the disease."

Savannah Declares a Quarantine Savannah, Ga., September 23.—(Special.)— Mayor Meldrim declared a quarantine against Atlanta tonight upon receipt of a telegram from Dr. Stone saying that Atlanta's board of health had declared case of yellow fever. The Atlanta train will be stopped at Meldrim in the morning and held for thorough inspection inspectors wired not to admit any person or baggage from Atlanta.

CAROLINA'S BOARD OF HEALTH. Body Passes Resolution Warning Against Yellow Fever.

Columbia, S. C., September 23 .- (Special.) An extra session of the state board of health today passed resolutions declaring no town in the state immune from the vellow fever. They say:

low fever. They say:

"As some concern is felt by several of the towns in South Carolina, especially those on the seaboard, as to the possible danger of the introduction of yellow fever by refugees from infected regions coming in, and towns in the state that are considered exempt from danger of the spread of yellow fever by reason of the altitude of such towns above the sea level, this board would caution the health authorities of such places as may be willing to receive such refugees, that they do not consider any place in South Carolina exempt from danger of infection by such altitude, for the disease has prevailed at an elevation of 4,500 feet in the Andes mountains, and that Chattanooga was not exempt in 1878 from this disease. While we are glad that such refuge should be afforded the people of our sister states in their calamity, we would impress upon the health authorities the necessity of purification of all baggage and household effects of all refugees from the yellow fever stricken regions, especially as such purification can be readily, castly and economically pergions, especially as such purification can be readily, easily and economically per-formed by the use of fumigation with for-maldehyde gas."

The board announced that as soon as relieved of duties in the yellow fever district Dr. Geddings, of the marine hospital service, would be detailed to visit Clemson and inspect the sanitary conditions.

The services of the government exper have been obtained because the accuracy of the report of experts from the state board as to the epidemic of typhoid fever at Clemson last July was questioned by the college authorities.

It was resolved that a state board of health officer should accompany Dr. Geddings.

"We had but few days that could be called pleasant, so we could do nothing. After we left north Sydney we sailed for Turnevik island, on the coast of Labrador. From there we went to Baffin's land, on Revolution island. What I consider the most important discovery was my finding of the relics of Greely's expedition. These I found on Cape Sabin, but would prefer not to discuss them just now. We touched Meteoric Island on August 30th and proceeded to get the big meteorite which we discovered before on board the Hope. It was just large enough to go into the hold. It measured twelve by eight feet and whighed 100 tons. It is a beautiful specimen, in fact, the best I ever saw. I have tested it and find that the composition is almost similar to that used in plate armor on United States ships and looks like nickeled steel." 'We had but few days that could be call

WILL SPEND THE DAY THERE

Strong Words from Senator Phil Cook on the New Bill.

HAS GIVEN THE QUESTION MUCH THOUGHT

Believes the Matter Is in a Fair Way to Judicious and Satisfactory Settlement.

The sub-committee of the joint penitentiary committee of the house and senate, together with many members of the leg's. lature, left Atlanta at 8:30 o'clock last night for the purpose of making an official inspection of Sapelo island. The committee is composed of Senators Cook Atkinson, Dunwody and Shropshire, and Representatives Hall, Felder, Boynton of Calhoun, Thomas and Dodson. The joint committee delegated to them absolute power in the matter of preparing a bill for submission to the next legislature, but they already stand committed to a plan which is complete except in so far as it concerns the location of the property on which a penal colony is to be established.

It seems to be the sentiment of the committee that the senate could use one of the ea islands cheaper than it could a piece of property inland because of the great saving in the matter of building protecting walls and employing guards. That matter, however, is one that the sub-committee will have to settle and it is probable that all the pieces of property offered will be officially inspected before settlement is reached. The members will be entertained for a day by Uncle Joe Mansfield on Supelo island, and later they will go to Ossabaw island as the guests of Colonel Houston Richardson Harper, editor of The Rome Tribune, who represents the ownes of that Whatever may be done in the matter of securing land on which to establish the proposed penal colony, however, it may ings erected thereon will be a reformatory. During the session of the joint committee nothing was brought out more prominently than the strong sentiment favoring such an institution. It is not necessary to quote all the members-although they could be sub-committee show clearly not only unanimity of feeling in this respect but the desire to begin at once the work of building a reformatory.

Chairman Cook for Reformatory. Durng the recent meeting of the joint y, was somewhat handicapped in his efforts to take part in the proceedings by being compelled by virtue of his position as the senate to presde on all occasions. His suggestions, however, have been incorpordetails of the affray as already published ated in the bill which is to form the basis and all declared that none of the strikers of legislative action, and he has been one were armed; that Sheriff Martin pulled a of the leaders in the movement to establish to take it from him; that no violence had with a Constitution reporter at the Kimball terday after

"If our committees had adjourned with out making any other declaration than that they were in favor of erecting a reformatory. I feel that our meeting would not have stitution is recognized by everyoody and it is my opinion that in the entire legislature there will not be a single vote opposing the plan which will be recommended in that respect. It will not cost the state any money to maintain a reformatory, b cause the inmates will be able to provide for their own maintenance and in addition will pave the way for their return to society as good citizens.

reformatory attachment to its penitentiary system and there is no excuse for Georgia's being without one. A judge on the bench has no discretion today when a boy before him is convicted of either a felony or a misdemeanor-he must go to the chaingang. I have read in The Constitution of the case of the waif 'Biscuit' and I think that it indicates clearly the lamentable inadequacy of our present system. In order to place 'Blscuit' where the opportunity was offered for reform we had to send him to Tennessee. I think there is a good deal of false sentiment existing in reference to our adult convicts and that too much regard is being paid to future dispoboys I believe that too much cannot be done by the next legislature.

Another man who takes a similar view of the situation is Representative Thomas who was one of the leaders in shaping the action of the recent assembly and was ap-pointed a member of the sub-committee beto many of the features of Mr. Hall's bill, but in regard to the reformatory plan is said yesterday:

to any advancement upon the line of reformation. The association of the young with the old tends to degrade the young, and when you release him you turn loose upon society a full-fledged criminal, graduated in crime and capable of the commission of almost any offense I agree with Judge. Steffleld in the views expressed by him that the criminal should not be given a bed of feathers upod which to recline, and that they should be made to suffer the full penalty as contemplated by the law. Still, there should be a separation of the two classes and an effort made to effect a reformation of the young element sent to the penitentiary for the commission of minor offenses.

"I believe it to be true that a large portion, if not a majority, of the hardened criminals in the Georgia penitentiary today are those who have been convicted

TWO NEW CASES AND ONE DEATH

Mobile Has Had Thirty-Eight Cases of the Fever.

ALL SICK ARE DOING WELL

Spread Has Been Remarkably Slow and the People Are Hopeful.

ALL MAIL MATTER WILL BE FUMIGATED

Camp of Refuge Will B: Established at Mount Vernon at

Mobile, Ala., September 23 .- Official report is that today so far there have been thir ty-eight cases pronounced yellow fever, three have died, sixteen have been discharged and nineteen remain under treat

Two of the cases were reported today and ten were discharged today. Up to noon there have been no deaths since Saturday last, and all the sick but one or two are reported doing well. The two new cases are Mrs. Julia Jarvis, Elmira street, between Broad and Marine, and Henry P. Luling, George street, near

The patients who have been discharged today were all taken within the past ten days, most of them since the 14th. Their names are:

Since that time there has been no further development in any of these locali-ties, save in the second named, and in that locality the spread of the fever has been remarkably slow, so slow in fact that there is now entertained the hope that it will be stamped out altogether.

Another death was added to the list tonight-John J. Bourne, chief clerk of the Louisville and Nashville shops, who lived on Elmira street, between Jefferson and Bayou streets. He was taken sick Sep-tember 4th and reported as having yellow fever on the 19th. He died at 5 o'clock this afternoon. Bourne was reported yester-day as sleeping well and doing nicely, al though the fever was still on him. He had had rather a curious experience, several times being taken with sinking spells and rallying quickly therefrom. This morning at 2 o'clock he had a bad turn and although every effort was made he sank steadily un til death came.

The surgeon general has ordered that all mail from Mobile should be fumigated. Heretofore only the mail for southern distriets that have quarantined against Mobile has been ordered fumigated. Dr. Glennan, of the marine hospital ser ice here, says he has no official informa on that the government has the intention f establishing a camp of refuge at Mount Vernon, as some people have surmised. He knows, however, that the camp will e one for detention of those who wish to leave this city. The outfit and supplies have been assembled at Atlanta and wil be forwarded at once. In order that he may gain some idea of the number to ne applicants for admission, beginning tomorrow at 9 o'clock. All persons enter ing the camp must pass the inspection provided in such cases and have their baggage disinrected. The term of detention will be ten days. Upon discharge such persons will be given a health certificate and a certificate of detention in a non-infected camp, which will be accepted by quarantine officers in the state of Flor-ida and by many local quarantine officers in other states. Negotiations are making with prospects of success for recognition by state and local officers of Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Georgia and Tennessee. Dr. Glennan is making every ef-fort to facilitate the release of freight from here. Today he had two carloads of cotton disinfected for shipment to New Orleans. He proffers his services for disinfection and fumigation of any freight that may be offered.

Starv against Charles Bedell, a member of the Mallory line They allege that Bedell in company with of war sent to Cuba and the Fhilippine islands during the insurrections now in is chum, "Liverpool Jack," murdered and obbed a wealthy diamond mine owner in the Spanish government sent to Cuba 181.738 soldiers, 6,261 officers, of whom forty were generals, 212,542 guns, 320,406 kilograms of South Africa and dividing the proceeds es caped to this country. Bedell was alleged to have $5,000 in English gold in a belt around his body, while "Liverpool Jack" was similarly loaded, and en route to the states via Australia. Deputy United States Marshal Taylor arrested Bedell and search-91 cannons, 12 mitrailleuses and 29,500 shells. Since the outbreak of the present revolu-tion in the Philippines the government has ing him found nearly $5,000 in a belt around his waist, and all kinds of diamond and gold jewelry besides, running his holdings up enormously. Bedell proved a perverse prisoner and did not flinch before Taylor's cross-examination. He admitted knowledge of the charges the sailors made, but de-nied them stating, however, his familiarity with the laws of this country and his utmost reliance in proving himself clear. He stated that the money and jewelry were his own property, and for possession of them the South African government had confined himself and thirty-three others orison. These men, with himself, we government conductors on a diamond mine railway and were suspected of stealing. They were arrested and lodged in jall, and efforts were made to convict them. After many days Bedell and three others were released and given a government discharge This discharge Bedell exhibited to Marshal Taylor. Viewing all the circumstances, with Bedell's statement, Marshal Taylor concluded to release Bedell and he left on the New York steamer, laughing at the discomfiture of his sailor accusers. Bedell was a consul's man on board the Willey. Another consul's man was E. M. Bauman, son of a wealthy Hebrew Chicagoan, E. Bauman. Bauman stated at the custom house, while being paid off, that he had been in Cape Town four years trying to get home. Later he was assaulted on the streets by sailors, who mistook him for Bedell and wanted to rob him.

Bauman seemed chummy with Bedell, but Bedell steered clear of him as much as possible. Bauman's people wired him money and a ticket to Chicago over the Southern. Bauman had no share in Bedell's cash and it is suspected was shadowing

The campaign of education that has been carried on by the press and the more progressive counties of the state is having effect in the growing demand for better roads. People are beginning to understand that money spent in making good roads is invested in about the best way possible for the material benefit of the community. time since I wrote a short article on the decadence of wheat growing in Augusta territory; and, also, the utter passing away of the old time country flour. Mr. Brad Merry of Berzelia, Ga., who, however, owns an old time flour mill, induced a number of his neighbors to go into wheat growing this past season. The crop was gathered in June. As it is a revival of an old time crop, I asked him to give me his data, as follows: The experiment this year in wheat has proved such that a larger area will be planted this year. The yield varied with soil and preparation; but little or no rust showed itself. On sandy lands, and without manure, the cultivation consisting of land being plowed with a Dixon plow and then brushed, yielded six or eight bushels per acre. On another plantation ten bushels of cotton seed per acre were used; pastured eighteen pigs till February on it yielded nine bushels per acre; would have been twelve if pigs had been kept off. On another, the land was an old pine field, soil washed and worn out. On six acres, forty-seven bushes of native red wheat was threshed out. Five and a half bush els of red wheat, deducting toll, yields a barrel of flour and five bushess of white wheat make a barrel. The average cos of above wheat was 24 to 27 cents a After wheat is cut, Mr. Merry estimates that there is a pasturage value on the remainder left in the fields of $2 an acre. Th country about Berzelia raised this year almost flour enough for their year's consumption. They will plant enough this November and December of wheat to insure a full and sufficient supply for another year.

CARTER IS PLEASED WITH THE EVIDENCE

Investigation by the Board Goes on in Savannab.

DONE BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

Motives for the Charges Are Being Ascribed Now.

THE DEFENDANT SEEMS TO BE SATISFIED

Intimations Are Made That a Rock Company Has Caused All the Trouble.

Savannah, Ga., September 23.-(Special.) As little as came out with regard to the proceedings of the investigating board which is here inquiring into the river and harbor work during the first two days of the work, there was probably less yes-are examined and neither from the lips of the witnesses nor the principals is the general public made any the wiser.

Captain Carter began yesterday the presentation of his side of the matter, Captain Gillette having concluded the day before the presentation of evidence given in lodged with the war department From what was learned on the street sterday, however, it would appear that Captain Carter was pleased with the resuit of the evidence presented during the day. Just how long the investigation will Reports are growing and spreading as to the motives that prompted the attack upon Fernandina and upon the officer who has for so long a time been in charge of it. It has been a little difficult for many to see why such a work the excellence of which has so increased the commerce of the port should be attacked as it has been, unless there should be some good cause for it. It is currently talked now, however, that for some time efforts have been made by a certain Georgia stone company to have its rock used in the construction of the jetty work in the Savannah river. Those efforts have failed. The Florida rock was used, it is stated, because of a peculiar quality through which it forms with the mattresses in time a solid wall-

Was It a Venting of Spleen? Failing to get this particular rock into the work, it is stated that the company controlling the output, though certain of its representatives, made threats that unless it was used there would be a scandal and charges would be preferred. Even this had no effect in changing the rock used. Shortly after Captain Cassius E. Gillette came to Savannah to succeed Captain Carter there were certain interesting developments in connection with the work. A recommendation was made to the department that the contractors be ordered to stop the use of the Florida rock and use a heavier stone. Under Captain Gillette's recommendation the department is-thought, he lodged the information that led to the investigation. Following the appearance of the aforesaid gentlemen in New Yerk the publication concerning Captain Carter appeared in The New York Jour-

That article is said to have been follow ed by an inquiry to the parties most interested asking whether that was pressure enough. It seems that it was not and further developments followed.

Some More Interesting Facts. Woven into all this, it is stated freely, that there is the effort on the part of the Nicaragua Canal Company to oust Captain Carter from the Nicaraguan canal commission. Captain Carter, as an independent engineer, is said to have refused to comply with certain requests made upon him by that company of which Warner Miller is president and in which it is said the secretary of war is also interested, which request was for a favorable report upon the subject under any circumstances, This refusal, it is stated, has angered the Nicaragua Canal Company and its high officials.

From these two series of facts reported the conclusion is drawn that the attack upon the Savannah river work is the combined result of the efforts of the stone company to have its stone used in the jetty work and the efforts on the part of the Nicaragua Canal Company to get rid of Captain Carter as a member of the commission. It is said, therefore, that the fact of the slight difference in the specific gravity of the stone used and that called for by the specifications was taken advantage of the purpose named. There are many other things, it is said, which might be stated in connection with these reports, which would be good circumstantial evidence in bearing them out almost as strong as does the direct evidence There are other parties connected with the matter in one way and another, who are said to have done things they should not

It is currently reported on the streets that Captain Carter's private letter books and papers, which had nothing to with the river and harbor works, have been shown and that matters concerning him individually have been introduced into the investigation without having any bearing whatever on the quality or effectiveness of the work done. All of these things, it is said, will be brought out before the investiga tion has been concluded and it is reported that evidence of an undoubted nature will be brought forward in support of them. It would appear, therefore, that much of an interesting and sensational nature

early in life of some sort of crime, who have served a term for the commission of a former offense, and who have been encouraged in the commission of these crimes by reason of their association with other criminals of this class. Now is the time for the establishment of a pian embodying this idea of a reformatory."

Views of Mr. Dunwody. Senator Dunwody says that one of the most salutary effects of the investigation from the inception of Commissioner Byrd's work to the passage of reform measures by the legislature, will be the calling of the attention of the officials of the state to the need of a reformatory for juvenile criminals. He said:

criminals. He said:

"The old adage runs, 'an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure,' and it applies admirably in this matter. We may adopt measures to amcliorate the condition of the misdemeanor and felony convicts, and wille they are well placed and necessary, to neglect the great work of setting aright the warped young natures which may be members of the gangs or inmates of the penitentiary, would be nothing short of criminal. The convict boy is the most frequently led from the path of rectitude by the mere hot blood of youth. In an inconsiderate moment he appropriates others' property, or as more probably the case, becomes involved in a fight over some trifling matter, and is consigned to punishment along with callous criminals who have been guilty of heinous crimes, and who are inured to penitentiary life.

"If, in the first place, the boy could be placed in a reformatory and have the cardinal principles of right instilled into his nature, there is every possibility of his plant nature yielding to rightly directed influences, and of his becoming a decent citizen. But under the present system only a short time elapses, before he is contaminated by contact with his su-

Georgia an Exception.

Representative Boynton, of Calhoun, has some very strong views on the subject of a reformatory. He does not believe tha the importance of this department of the penitentiary can be exaggerated, and does not hesitate to express himself plainly. He said yesterday afternoon:

He said yesterday afternoon:

"I would like to see every convict under age in this state the inmate of a carefully and scientifically arranged reformatory Georgia is the only state in the union which does not operate a department of this character in conjunction with her pentiteutiary, and this omission is a serious plot on her good fame. Expense cannot possibly enter into a matter of this kind. Where right is concerned and the future welfare of the clizens involved, there should be no hesitation in taxing the capacity of the exchequer to provide means adequate for such ideas as these. The argument that such an action on the part of the state would come under the head of a paternal government is ridiculous.

"The first duty that a state owns to its."

lette's recommendation the department is sued the order, but the contractors who are doing the river and harbor work here did not get their stone from the company above referred to, but went to South Carolina for it, securing, however, the quality of rock demanded by the department. This brought on more trouble. Following this a representative of the company that did not get the stone contract went to New York. It was about the same time that Captain Gillette went from Savannah to Washington, at which time, it is lictal or a paternal government is ridiculous. "The first duty that a state owes to its citizens is protection of their lives, rights and property, and every individual is his own judge as to whether these interests are conserved by associating with the vilest human products of vice and crime young minds whose principles have not yet assumed a permanent and proper shape. There is but one one course to pursue, and the Georgia legislature cannot afford to ignore it. If they value the good repute of the state and the existence of her institutions, they will not be many weeks in formulating such reform measures as recommend themselves to the conservative, patriotic citizens of the state.

Mr. Felder Is Emphatic.

Representative Thomas Felder spoke much on the same line. He said that while no one questioned the necessity for a complete and far-reaching reform in the entire iniquitous system, by far the most prominent feature thus far touched. on was the reformatory plan. He said:

"The criminal records of our own and other states prove conclusively that the most intractable lawbreakers in the country are those who began with insignificant offenses and who, for want of proper training and reformatory education, went on from bad to worse until they had forfeited the esteem of every self-respecting man. There is no doubt whatever that crime is a disease, and while it at first is acute, it is also progressive, and if not treated with heroic measures will ultimately become chronic. The reformatory system has been introduced with valuable results in many states, and this is the only departure that Georgia has ever made from her usual progressive mode of legislation. We must make amends as repidly as time will allow in this grave problem, and I am sure that the legislature will not thwart any reasonable plan in this direction." on was the reformatory plan. He said:

Other members interviewed expressed themselves in similar terms, and this to certainly one feature on which the entire committee seems to be agreed. The legislators owe it to themselves to make convict reform for the establishment of a juvenile reformatory, and then the time will not be far distant when experience will demonstrate the wisdom of such a step.

Savannah, Ga., September 23 .- (Special.)-Tybee is to have a garrison of artillery. There seems to be so little doubt on this point that it can be stated as a certainty It is not expected that this garrison will be sationed on the island at any early date. The fortifications that are now in process of construction must be finished and the guns of their armament put in place before it will be necessary to have the artillery force in barracks on the island.

These gentlemen went over the grounowned by the government on Tybee island with the view of ascertaining if there might be suitable location for the erection of the barracks that are to be built for the accommodation of the troops. NEW MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

A Positive Cure for Dyspepsia. This may read as though we were putting it a little strong because it is generally thought by the majority of people that Dyspepsia in its chronic form is incurable. or practically so. But we have long sine shown that Dyspepsia is curable, nor is it such a difficult matter as at first appears. The trouble with Dyspeptics is that the are continually dieting, starving them-selves or going to opposite extremes or else deluging the already over-burdened stomach with "bitters." "after dinner pills," etc., which invariably increase the difficulty even if in some cases they do give a slight temporary relief. Such treatent of the stomach simply makes mat-rs worse. What the stomach wants is a rest. Now how can the stomach becom rested, recuperated and at the same time the body nourished and sustained. This is the great secret and this is also the secret of the uniform success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. This is a com-paratively new remedy, but its success and popularity leaves no doubt as to its merits.

egardless of the condition of the stom The sufferer from dyspepsia according to and after each meal and the result will be that the food will be digested, no matte how bad your dyspepsia may be, because as before stated, the tablets will digest the food even if the stomach is wholly inactive To illustrate our meaning plainly, if you take 1,800 grains of meat, eggs or ordinary food and place it in a temperature of 98 degrees, and put with it one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets it will digest the meat or eggs almost as perfectly as if the meat was inclosed within the stomach.

The stomach may be ever so weak yet these tablets will perform the work of digestion and the body and brain will be properly nourished and at the same time a radical lasting cure of dyspepsia will be made because the much abused stomach will be given, to some extent, a much needed rest. Your druggist will tell you that of the many remedies advertised to cure dyspepsia none of them has given so complete and general satisfaction as Stu-art's Dyspepsia Tablets and not least in importance in these hard times is the fact that they are also the cheapest and give the most good for the least money.

It is impossible to say whether the last stage of paresis has set in or whether the business men con have come to the conclusion that the yellow fever howls of the editor

For our part, we are sorry a change has taken place. We referred briefly yesterday to the charge of Judge Sheffield, of the Pataula circuit, to the grand jury of Quitman county, in regard to the law governing the disposition of the misdemeanor convicts. It is to be hoped that there is some misunderstanding about the mat-

Echoes of the Convict Discussion.

Judge Sheffield is a prominent and useful citizen, and it seems to us as impossible that he should have referred as cavafierly-almost contemptuouslyto the law as that he should commit himself to the statement that the private lease system has been made the subject of discussion only recently.

The law as it stands is the result of a hubbub raised against the private lease system, and it has been faithfully enforced by the officers of the law in many counties. The fact that it has not been enforced in all counties has been due entirely to the fact that officers of the courts either ignored the law or deliberately violated it. Violation of the law may become a custom, indeed, but it is a very vicious custom and is to be tol-erated only so long as the officers of the state can assert their dignity and enforce compliance with the statute made and provided

The recent hubbub has been raised be cause the public sentiment of the state was and is determined that the law which it had placed on the statute book tion has been getting in Macon | shall be enforced. This could not be done without the assistance of public sentiment. It had been re-aroused by the publication of the Byrd report, made at the instigation of Governor Atkinson and The Constitution and almost the whole press of the state took advantage of the ripe moment to applaud the ac tion of the governor and to assure him that in his proposed enforcement of the law, he would have public opinion behind him. When the old dodge of referring the matter to the legislature was suggested The Constitution protested against it, and showed how futile such a disposition of the matter would The legislature could do nothing more than it had already done. The machinery for enforcing the law resides outside the legislative body and rests in the executive officers of the state.

The Constitution is in nowise affected by the sentimentality which is at the reform. Protests against it can be found on our editorial pages for ten years back. The convicts should be punished, but they should be punished lawfully and by the proper officers. They should not be turned over to irresponsipersons in violation of the law.

Signed by the Sultan.

Within the past few days the Turk-ish sultan has formally acquiesced in the decision of the European powers with re spect to the Greco-Turkish controversy; and it now remains for unhappy Greece to accept with becoming resigna tion the terms of peace which her enforced guardians have prescribed.

Since the close of hostilities between Greece and Turkey in May last, more than four months have elapsed. This long delay in arriving at some definite agreement in the matter has been due in part to the slow deliberation of the powers, who have not been able to move in perfect harmony, and in part to the hesitating tactics of the sultan, who has been anxious to make as much out of the situation as possible. Until a few days ago it looked as if military force would have to be invoked in order to bring negotiations to a close, but han the sultan has at last affixed his signature to the verdict of the powers and the reading public in both hemispheres can now breathe a sigh of re-

But while some little time has been consumed in bringing negotiations to a close, it cannot be said of the war itself that it lasted for any great while. On the contrary, it was one of the shortest conflicts to be met with anywhere in modern history; for barely eight months have elapsed since the first intimation of impending difficulties between Greece and Turkey reached this side of the Atlantic. To briefly review the situation, the troubles in Crete which gave rise to the war, broke out in February of this year. Within a few weeks, from that time Greece had espoused the cause of the distressed isfrom Mr. W. D. Bankston, who has land and stationed her war vessels at its principal ports. This seemingly titution in Macon, advising us to add gratuitous interference aroused the indignation of Turkey, who appealed to the European powers, asking that Greece be made to withdraw her ion's increase of circulation in Macon, from Crete and to mind her own busi-Mr. Bankston has charge only of the ness. After conferring in regard to the city delivery. Mr. T. C. Parker, who matter, the powers finally compelled the sells The Constitution in Macon, handles Greeks to withdraw from the island. Subsequently during the month of April hostilities between Greece and Turkey formally broke out along the norther frontier, the immediate cause of bloodshed being the invasion of Macedonia and Epirus by Grecian irregulars. The sultan protested against this invasion but the Greeks were eager for battle and refused to desist from giving offense. Finally, on April 16th, war be tween the two countries was declared and hostilities began in good earnest cerned, The Telegraph's hatred of The At the outset fortune seemed to favor ution appears to have carried it the Greeks, and with one accord the several furlongs too far. In hitting at liberty-loving people of both hemi-spheres shouted for the plucky fighters whole retreests of Macon and of the whole retreests of macon and of the soon it appeared that the vaunted courage of the Greeks was only a sham; one disaster followed another, until the Greeks were put to utter confusion and triumph nestled upon the Turkish banners. The result was unfortunate for Christendom, since the Greeks had posed during the struggle as the champions of the cross; but such was the cowardly and inefficient manner in which the struggle was conducted on the Greek side toward the last that Christendom experienced a powerful revulsion of feeling and lost all enthusiasm for the degenerate Greeks. Hostilities ended on May 11th last, and from that time until tember 18th last, negotiations have been pending between the European powers and the sultan.

The exact terms of the agreement which the sultan has finally approved are not known, but, essentially, they exact from Greece a cash indemnity or $17,500,000 and a rectification of the northern frontier, which may cost the kingdom a small strip of its territory. Altogether, the terms are rather light, and Greece is getting out of her trouble with much less embarrassment than she had reason to anticipate. But how is the sum of $17,500,000 to be paid out of the destitute resources of the kingdom? This the powers themselves are to de-termine hereafter. For the present it has been deemed sufficient to provide for the appointment of a special commission to manage the financial affairs of the kingdom, and this commission is to consist of one representative from each of the six powers belonging to what is known as the European concert. Of urse this means that from now on Greece is to be a special ward of the powers, and that aside from collecting the cash indemnity prescribed in the terms of settlement, the powers also intend to manage the domestic affairs of the kingdom for some time to come. This carries with it some degree of humiliation to the Greeks, as it virtually strips them of independence for the time being at least: but instead of operating to the injury of the kingdom, it is likely to confer lasting benefit upon it. What the Greeks need is thorough discipline they have never seemed to realize the full measure of that responsibility which self-government imposes, and the regency of the powers may have the sa utary effect of teaching them several important lessons. If such is the final outcome of her present Greece may yet emerge triumphantly wear again the from her disasters to diadem of her pristine glory.

In the face of this, the Georgia railroad commission could well afford to show to the company that same quality of unstrained mercy which individuals cheerfully manifest to their unfortunate rethren who are suffering by reason of the fever. The commission's disposition to reduce the company's earnings under the present conditions certainly does not reflect the sentiment of the business communities which contribute to the support of the road and enjoy its excellent service. The board considerately suspended the operation of its decision until December 1st. Why keep this threatened reduction of reveue hanging over the unfortunate victim of circumstances beyond human conrol? Texas to Congress. "Tell you what," said Billy Van, the minstrel man, "I believe that the old-time darky is the best subject for imitation. I don't like the modern idea of the coon, and the stage notion of the darky now is neither picturesque nor striking."

> Billy Van is, perhaps, the cleverest end man in the business. He was perched up against a pillar yesterday talking about the evolution of the negro minstrel and what it offers today. Van does not sympathize with the movement which makes the stage coon a bully, drawing a razor at every turn of the heel and swiping an extenuated mouth over a magnified slice of watermelon. The flashy down-town ne gro of today, with his profession of infinite knowledge and unlimited supply impudence, does not appeal to him. He prefers the true old type, the real darky of old days with his quaint philosophy, his simple pathos and unpretentious civility. He knows there is a difference between the negro melodies of today, which, by the way, have struck a more popular chord than any songs of recent composition, and the old songs which the minstrel men of other days used to delignt in.

He sees the emptiness of such songs as: "When you see me comin' raise your win-dows high; When you see me goin' hang yo' heads and ery. I'm lookin' for dat bully; he must die." Or the other bully song:

"When I'm gone you'll hear dis song— Dar's a bully gone to rest." When compared with such old-fashione

Mr. Remsen Crawford is now in Atlanta after a stay of several weeks in Lincoln county, where he was called on account of his father's illness. Few newspaper men possess the rare brilliance and natural wit of Mr. Crawford and his old Atlanta friends have given him a cordial greeting. He gives an enticing description of early morning squirrel hunts at his old home place in Lincoln, and tellis picturesque stories of rural sports. His father had been pro-nounced out of danger before his depar-

Both have a slightly foreign accent and have brought over a few mannerisms of Antwerp, which inadvertently they absorbed during their residence, but they have not forgotten to shake hands in the old fashioned way, and they were kept busy at this yesterday.

The fumigation of the baggage at the carshed brought up to Mr. Johnson the disinfecting process used at Antwerp and he gave an interesting account of how the effects of the horde of emigrants which go out from Antwerp every month are examined. What the Plain American Citizen Had Been Drinking.

Three citizens were tried together in the police court yesterday, one a Dutchman, one an Irishman and the third a plain, veryday American citizen. The Dutchman shrugged his shoulders and said he had taken too many beers.

The Irishman, in the best of humor, acknowledged that he had had a dram too much of good whisky. Then the recorder turned to the plain, everyday American and asked him what he had been drinking. The American, after fumbling in his vest pocket a few minutes, pulled out a scrap of paper and read the following to the court: "A Frenchman likes his native wines;

A German likes his beer.
An Irishman likes his whisky straight
Because it gives him cheer.
An Englishman likes his half-and-half
Because it gives him dizziness;
But the American has no choice at all, He drinks the whole blame business.'

What a High Official Who Took Part in the Bimetallic Negotiations Says of the Bankers' Kick.

London, September 23.-The protest which the London bankers drew up at their meeting in the clearing house yesterday against the policy of the governor of the Bank of England in announcing its willingness to maintain one-fifth of its bullion reserve in silver was presented to the bank today. The resolution is accompanied by a fer-mal letter, and the resolution itself is in the name of the clearing association. Although all the members were not represented at the meeting, a majority of the membership was represented and unanimously adopted the resolution, which is as follows:

That this meeting entirely disapproves of the Bank of England agreeing to exercise the option permitted by the act of 1884 of holding one-fifth or any other proportion whatever of silver as a reserve against the circulation of the Bank of England notes. An organized movement has been begun to induce other commercial bodies to protest against the announcement of the governor of the Bank of England A high official who was a participant in the negotiations between the United States bimetallic commissioners and the British cabinet said today to a representative of the Associated Press:

"I fear the bankers will frighten the government into receding from their stand for bimetallism. They have forgotten that parliament unanimously resolved measures to secure a stable par of exchange between gold and silver, and Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, the chancellor of the exchequer, pledged himself to do all in his power to carry the resolution into effect.

"The English public have forgotten also that ten of the fourteen members of the agricultural commission signed a report recommending bimetallism as a palliative for the agricultural depression in England. The public and the newspapers seem to think the government is influenced merely by a design to secure the good will of the United States, when it is attempting to carry out the declared policy of parliament."

governor will be sitting in his office at the state capitol listening to the earnest pleas of Brooks's attorneys.

It will be a morning of terrible uncertainty with the condemned man. Every moment will be fraught with the possibility of a message—a message meaning death or life.

At last the message will come. It may be that it will not come until the sheriff is ready to begin the march to the gallows. Certain it is, that it will not reach Jefferson until just a chort time before the execution is scheduled to take place. In any event it will be a morning of dreadful expectancy for Brooks—with alternating prospects of death and life.

His attorneys are putting forth every effort to save him and the wires between them and governor Atkinson have been kept hot since the governor left the city. As a consequence he has consented to hear from his attorneys this morning at 8 o'clock at the executive office.

He will arrive in the city from his hunting trin in North Coralis.

He will arrive in the city from his hunting trip in North Carolina at 5 o'clock this morning and after a short rest will take up the consideration of the case in the light of the new features that have come out during the last few days.

Democratic League Will Hold Session

Reynolds Doesn't Care. No hope remains for Reynolds and no effort will be made to save his neck. He treats the matter lightly and it is believed that he will accept his fate with stolid indifference. He has never shown that he cared for the crime, while Brooks, on the contrary, has evidenced fear and hope during the whole time of his imprisonment and

The hearing this morning will be the last possible chance, but coming at the last moment it gives to the condemned man one ray of hope and will let him live in the expectation of life, if not of liberty, to the hour of his execution. It is strongly contended by the defense that he should not be hanged for the murder, for although he was an accomplice and instrumental in the killing of Merchant Hunt, he did not commit the act.

This is the strong point on which they will rely and they say the governor will recognize the fact that an accessory before the fact is not as great a criminal as the many more will join during the coming perpetrator and he will not hang today. It is not known what direction the defense will pull, whether for a commutation or a respite. It is believed that they will ask for a respite of enough time for them to prepare their case and present it to the governor and ask for a communitation afterwards.

> Colonel Brown Will Argue the Case. Colonel Brown, who represents Brooks, will argue the hearing and it will be concluded as quickly as possible, that the news may be flashed over the wires to Jefferson and give to him life or be his deaththe solicitor Brand does not believe that one of the men ought to be saved from the gallows today and the other allowed to hang. He has sent a communication to this effect to Governor Atkinson. He says that effect to Governor Atkinson. He says that if one is guilty, the other is, and the same punishment should fit the joint crime. Everything has been prepared for the execution of the two men and the sheriff will see that it is done, if he does not receive some message from the governor by noon.

> Reynolds Makes Confession. Reynolds made a confession soon after his arrest. The headline prominence given a confession made by him yesterday would indicate that the confession was something new. The following confession from him-was published in The Constitution of March 12, 1897. This extract is clipped bodily from the paper of that date:

Grady Reynolds's Statement.

"Brooks and I were the perpetrators of the plot," said he. "We made it up to kill Hunt for his money. I was perhaps the start of the affair, and Brooks was to help me carry it out for a share of the dead man's money.

"Hunt was the proprietor of a store at Belton. It was agreed that I should buy him out; offer him $1,000 for his stock outright; take possess.on; have Hunt sign the receipts for my payments; entice him to the bank of the river; kill him and take his money, which I knew he always carried in large sums on his person. We thought the public would never know what became of him; that no one would know but that I had paid him for his store and that he had skipped the country. I was to take charge of the establishment after h.s death, and run it for all it was worth, aided by the money we would take from Hunt's dead body. That was the plot we attempted to carry through—which we did carry through and which has justly caught us in the grip of the law.

"By the 15th of February, which was Monday, I had perfected arrangements with Hunt for the parchase of his store. I was engaged at the time in making rails twenty miles below Belton, near Harmony Grove. It was agreed that Hunt and I should drive there in a buggy, where I was to pay him the money.

"So just before noon that day we started for the scene of his death. He sat on the right hand side of the buggy, and I not he left. We talked cheerfully, but I had murder in my heart all the while, and knew full well that I would kill him when we arrived at the river, and that Brooks would be there to hely me.

"I guess it was about 4 o'clock in the afternoon when we passed through Harmony Grove and drove over the long bridge three miles below, near the home of a farmer, where we stopped and hitched up our horse in the stable. This was where I worked and I was familiar with the premises.

they had seen us together that day in the buggy, driving toward Harmony Grove. Evidence began to accumulate against me and I knew there was no hope.

"I Could Have Killed Him."

"Wednesday of the next week one of the deputy sheriffs came after me, and stated he wanted to arrest me for the murder of Hunt. We were all alone, and I could have easily killed him with my pistol if I had wished; but somehow or other I didn't want to. I don't believe I would have gone anywhere if I had had a chance. My conscience was hurting me dreadfully, and I just determined to face my punishment.

"The next day I confessed Brooks and I had killed Hunt, and told where his body could be found. They then went and pulled it out of the river and found about $350 of the money in greenbacks I had hidden under a pile of rocks near the scene of the killing. "I Could Have Killed Him." killing. "They then threatened to kill me. I told them to kill and be damned if they wanted to. I really didn't care whether I died or not, and I was not afraid of them. They locked me in the caliboose there, and started to hunt Brooks, who had gone with his money to his home in Oakway, S. C., about forty miles away.

Leads Them to Hidden Booty. "As soon as Brooks found out they were after him, too, he gave up and surrendered the money. They brought him back to Jefferson and put him in jail with me. "Last night the sheriff wanted to know where the rest of the money was. I told him it was hidden near the river and that I thought I could locate it; so I was chained and escorted to the scene of the murder, where it did not take me long to find the gold near a little oak tree, where I had burled it. OPENING OF THE LYCEUM.

Wilber Comedy Company Will Come Next Week.

The Lyceum theater will begin its regular theatrical season on next Monday night and for this occasion they will present the Wilber Comedy Company, which will remain for the entire week, giving matinees daily with the exception of Mon-day afternoon.

The Wilber company is by no means a new comer as this season will mark its twelfth annual season on the road as a repertoire attraction. This season the company is said to be very strong as Mr. Pete Baker, the well known German dialect comedian and formerly a star of no little renown, has been specially engaged to pre sent his plays and specialties with this company. Besides Mr. Baker will be seen La Petite Lille, a child dancer who has won a great many admirers by her clever sing-ing and dancing and is a prime favorite with the little folks in every city where she has appeared.

The Wilber company carry special scenery for every production and the verdict of all who have witnessed their perform-ances pronounce this company an unusual-ly good one. For the opening bill "The Emly good one. For the opening bill "The Emigrant" will be the bill and as is the usual custom ladies will be admitted free when accompanied by a paid ticket. During the engagement Manager Sharp, of the Lyceum, states that he will give his patrons several surprises in the way of nice souvenirs. He has also made special arrangements to have street cars for all parts of the city after the performance.

A bogus dollar caused it all. James Hevward, the restaurant proprietor, contended that his customer, J. M. Stokes, had passed a counterfeit coin on him and Stokes swore that he had given the proprietor a good dollar and that Heyward had put the genuine coin in his pocket and pulled out the spurious coin.

Stokes, the customer, was offended. He went off to the police station to secure a detachment of officers to arrest Heyward, the proprietor. Heyward was mad. He out to get a couple of policemen to arrest Stokes. Both men charged the other with passing counterfeit money.

Then game the puzzling question. Who passed the counterfeit dollar? A number of witnesses swore that Stokes, the cusof witnesses swore that Stokes, the customer, passed the bad money, so Heyward was allowed to go and Stokes was placed in jail. United States Secret Service Officer J. M. Wright swore out a warrant for Stokes charging him with passing counterfeit money, and Judge Broyles set the hour for his trial at 9 o'clock this morning.

It all happened this way: J. M. Stokes went into a restaurant just opposite the police station on Decatur street.

police station on Decatur street.
"I gave you a good dollar," said Stokes.
"You didn't do it, for you see it's counterfeit," said Heyward.

"You put my good dollar in your pocket and pulled out your bad dollar to cheat me with," said Stokes, and he rushed out to the police station across the street where he excitedly told his story to the officers in front of the building. "A man in that restaurant tried to pass

Yesterday morn Ing the city detective department received a letter from the chief of police at Salls-bury, N. C., asking that J. M. Stokes be bury, N. C., asking that J. M. Stokes be arrested by the authorities here, as he was badly wanted in Salisbury on a number of charges. Chief Slaughter detailed Detectives Harris and Wooten to search for School Chief. Stokes. They worked on the case all day, but failed to find the man wanted. Yester-day morning when Stokes went to the po-lice station with his tale of woe the officers suspected that he was the man wanted i South Carolina. After he was arrested for passing the spurious coin he was searched and a number of letters taken from his pocket, all of which were addressed to him from Salisbury. If he is not held by the government authorities he will be kept here for the Salisbury officers.

ingly interesting and the record in the case is very long and complicated. It dates back to the spring of 1896, when certain persons holding ar being interested in some of the bonds of the Georgia Mining, Manufacturing and Investment Company associated themselves together for the purpose of mutual protection and appointed a committee, consisting of Captain Anderson, as chairman, R. T. Dorsey and Franklin Weld, to represent their interests. The Metropolitan Trust Company, of New York, was the trustee for the benefit of the bondwas the trustee for the benefit of the bond-holders of the Georgia company. 4 At the request of the holders of a number of bonds of the company this trustee, in accordance with the provisions of the deed of trust which it held, sold a large block ed by the Georgia Mining, Manufacturing and Investment Company. The stocks sold were all stocks of the companies they purported to be, with the exception of twenty-

After this sale Mr. Brown, for himself as executor of his father's estate, med Company was brought about aimost entirely by the friendship which existed between R. J. Lowry, president of the bank, and Julius L. Brown, personally, and because of the frequent assurances on the part of Brown to Lowry that he and his family would see that the bank was always fully protected; that Julius L. Brown was attorney for the bank at the time of these transactions, and at the time of these transactions, and at the time of these transactions, and at the time of the instrument of writing was drawn by him which waived the lien of the bank, relied upon Brown to draw a paper which would secure the bank and was surprised when he was advised by counsel subsequently employed that the effect of the paper was not to transfer the bonds, but to waive the lien thereof.

The hearing upon this petition and application for injunction took place before Judge Lumpkin during the latter part of June, of this year. At that hearing Mr. Brown failed entirely to produce any evidence to show any fraudulent acts. June, of this year. At that hearing Mr. Brown failed entirely to produce any evidence going to show any fraudulent acts on the part of anybody, and the testimony upon these questions introduced by the defendants was not contradicted. Mr. Brown and his counsel then insisted that even without fraud, the bank, holding the bonds in the manner in which it did, could not become the purchaser at said sale by the trustee except to hold what it bought in trust for Brown.

The judge took the matter under advisement and rendered his decision yesterday, finding in favor of the defendants' contentions and denying the injunction.

These packages of tobacco have been freely distributed among the public school children, and many parents have taken board of education.

The matter will, no doubt, be brought to the attention of the council, and in all probability action will be taken to prevent such free distribution of tobacco to school legislation held an important meeting at the city hall yesterday afternoon. The proposed amendments to the city charter, as published in The Constitution several days ago, were the main matters up for consideration, together with several reso-lutions referred from council at last meet-

After some discussion the section requir ing all street car companies to grant transfers, and that giving the city authority to condemn property of certain classes of corporations, were held over until Saturday afternoon, when the committee will hold a special meeting for the consideration of these questions.

The object of the transfer section is to secure the required authority from the legislature to compel the companies to ise transfers.

The committeemen wanted more time to consider the matter, and hence the post-ponement until Saturday afternoon.

Steps Toward Municipal Ownership. telephone plants and electric railways it the city should ever desire to go into that business. The measure reads: "Any municipal corporation in this state, having a population of 20,000 or more, may in-cur a debt for the purchase or erection or acquisition by condemnation proceedings of any street railway property situated mainly or wholly within the city limits." Judge Dorsey jumped on this section with both feet. Mayor Collier upheld it. He said Boston and several other cities had adopted the same policy. Judge Dorsey was in favor of municipal ownership of electric light plants, 'and thought the city made a tremendous mistake when it sold the gas stock some time ago. Mayor Col-ller differed again, claiming the sale was the wisest course that could have possibly been pursued, as the city only had a mi-nority voice in the management of the concern, notwithstanding three members of the company were on the aldermanic board

The committeemen wanted time to consider this also, and the matter was held over until Saturday afternoon. Moore Will Hold His Job.

Moore Will Hold His Job.

The committee completely squelched the movement to have the position of clerk of the commissioner of public works abolished, and Clarence Moore, the present incumbent, fired. The proposed amendment to make the office a non-chartered institution, giving to council the right of abolishment, was killed outright, the committeemen seeing no pressing need of any cave.

change.
Mr. Frank P. Rice had decided to withdraw his amendment concerning dual office holding, and the measure was not consid-ered yesterday afternoon.

The amendment to make the board of education a chartered body, the same as all other municipal boards in the city, was passed. The amendment as published Wednesday morning will be amended by inserting the words, "The board shall con-sist of seven members, one from each ward, with the mayor and chairman

One of Lumpkin's Measures. Councilman Lumpkin's resolution intro-duced last session of council, changing the sentences of the recorder's court, was held over until next meeting for further investigation. City Attorney Judge Ander-son was opposed to the measure on the ground it would give the recorder too great a sweep, and that thirty days' imprison-ment was sufficient for such offenses as come before Judge Andy.

The majority of the committee seemed to be opposed to the resolution yesterday afternoon and the final vote is doubtful. Mr. Jake Haas, representing the Atlan ta Baggage and Cab Company, was present with the request that the law recently passed limiting the charge for the transfer of baggage to 25 cents from all parts of the city be changed, claiming it worked a hardship on his company.

He stated the company ought to be allowed to charge different prices for different distances from the center of the city. Councilman Lumpkin opposed Mr. Haas, claiming the short distances and good professional control of the city. claiming the short distances and good profits would more than counterbalance long distance and low profits.

After some discussion the committee passed a measure allowing the company the privilege of charging 25 cents for all distance within istances within a radius of a mile and me-half from the depot and 35 cents for

The Novelties of Two Continents Outspread on Our Counters

Such an enormous stock of rich weaves is not to be seen anywhere else in the South. The variety and beauty of the goods have never before been equaled even here. A lot of tardy Escurial Matelasse, Tinseled Velours, Jacquard Damasse, Polka Dot Mirror Velours and Two-colored Silkand-wool Bayadere Velours, that we ordered from Paris last July, came yesterday. They are gorgeous. We control these special styles in Atlanta. There's no guess-work about their quality You'll marvel how looms ever wrought such loveliness. Warp and woof replete with glistening silk and softest fleece. Every yard made by hand. In spite of the slow process of such weaving the prices are low enough. Peasant labor in Roubaix is very cheap. Otherwise the cost of these fabrics would almost make them prohibitive. Under present conditions the range is from $1.50 to $2.75 the yard. Foreman Had the Dam Rebuilt After Having It Torn Down-The Situation Is Serious.

Chattanooga, Tenn., September 23 .- (Speclal.)-The last congress appropriated $41,-000 to the improvement of the channel of the Clinch river, the commerce of which mounted last year to about half a miltion dollars, consisting mostly in timber of all kinds. Captain Kingman, United States engineer in charge of the river, dispatched a force of men, under Foreman Nelles, to the head waters of the Clinch to work down cleaning out the channel. The men began at Osborne ferry in Virginia, making good progress until a few days ago, when they came to a point in the Tennessee mountains, where they found a stone dam built ely across the stream. The dam had been built by William Lawson, a desperate mountaineer, who had been able to stand the loggers and lumbermen off with guns, so that the dam amounted to almost a total obstruction. Nelles and his party began tearing the dam down and finally succeeded in getting their fleet through, after sinking several of their boats and losing a quantity of Nelles then notified old man Lawson that he would have to remove the dam, but the old man descended on the government force and told them that no man could tear down his dam and live.

Nelles then, for fear of trouble, rebuilt that part of the obstruction removed by his men and is now awaiting the calling out of government troops to compel old man Lawson to let him remove the dam. Lawson is backed by a large body of miners and Nelles reports that he can do Captain Kingman today forwarded the papers to Washington asking for instruc-

All the committeemen were in favor of the resolution and the vote was unanimous. This practically settles the matter, so far as council is concerned. The report will be made at the next regular meeting of the city fathers, who will no doubt concur, and the measure will then be ready for the leg-

AL FIELD'S MINSTRELS.

Great Performance Given at the Grand Last Night.

Refined minstrelsy seems to grow in popularity in Atlanta and a criterion upon which to base such a conclusion was the magnificent audience and lavish amount of applause and laughter bestowed upon the performance given last night by Al G. Field and his sterling galaxy of minstrel

Mr. Field had already won a proud distinction in Atlanta for the excellence of the performances he has given, and amusement lovers when attending the Field minstrels expect to witness the very best attraction. The people at the Grand opera house last night had their expectations more than fully realized, for a more unique, new and novel minstrel show has never been presented. To sum it up briefly, not a dult moment occurred; refinement and cleanli-ness predominated its every feature. The whole performance savored of master minds the minstrel art. The singing by Mr. Walling and his superb coterie of vocalists was exquisite and the comedy of Al G. Field, Billy Van, Tommie Donnelly and Doc Quigley as refreshing as it was comic. While the specialties were of the highest standard of excellence and can be classed among real novelties. Mr. Dan Quinlan was at his best in the interlocutor's chair, and sustained his reputation of premier in his art. The scenic and costume accesso ries were of good taste and the entire per-formance a success. The company will close its engagement with performances this afternoon and tonight.

Was Quite a Comedy.

A deaf witness and one that told for tunes with the aid of playing cards performed a comedy in Judge Foute's court yesterday that caused the dignity of the bench to be forgotten for the time. John Cotton was on trial for burglary. It was charged against him that he had broken open a window, entered a house and stole a suit of clothes. He denied the charge, and his guilt had to be proven. An array of witnesses, all colored, old and young, crowded into the courtroom. The ase was dismissed.

LUETGERT'S WIFE SEEN ON MAY 3D

Three Witnesses Swear To Having Talked with the Woman.

SHE WAS IN KENOSHA, WIS.

Photographs of the Alleged Victim Are Produced by Defense.

TALLY WITH THE WISCONSIN VISITOR

If the Testimony Counts with the Jury a Case of Murder Cannot Be Made Out.

Chicago, September 23 .- Viewed from various standpoints, today's proceedings of the Luetgert murder trial were the most remarkable that have occurred within three weeks.

In the face of the sensational circumstantial evidence that has been produced to prove that Mrs. Louise Luetgert met death her husband's sausage factory on May 1st, three witnesses testified today that they saw the woman alive on May 3d and 4th. One of these witnesses talked to her and believed from a description and a photograph of Mrs. Luetgert that the woman she saw was Mrs. Luetgert.

This witness was Mat J. Sholey, a barkeeper at the Hotel Maple, Kenosha, Wis. He saw, he said, a strange woman at the Hotel Maple on the evening of May 3d. He talked with her nearly ten minutes. She asked to be directed to the farm of one Mueller, in the neighborhood, but as no one eemed to know such a person, the woman left on the following day. Sholey again saw the woman. He described her general appearance and clothing and identified a photograph of Mrs. Luetgert as the woman he saw. On cross-examination by State's Attorney Deneen, witness at first fixed the weight of the woman he saw at 130 or 140 pounds Then he hesitated, said he had got mixed up, and remarked that the woman weighed 115 to 120 pounds, which was about Mrs. Luetgert's weight. This hesitation and correction was made much of by the prosecution, which intimated that it indicated that Sholey had forgotten the weight that had been probably told him at first.

Policeman Henry Feldshew, of Kenosha Wis., testified that he saw a strange woman in the police station of his town on May 3d. The witness said he afterwards saw the woman at the Hotel Maple and the following day at the railway station. He described the woman as a blonde and said she wore a sailor hat and slippers. One of the slippers she had worn was found in the police station after she left. The witness identified the picture of Mrs. Luctgert as closely resembling the woman he saw.

William J. Grunsten, a clerk in the Grant Hotel, Kenosha, identified the photograph as the picture of a woman he saw in his hotel on May 3d. He said she came into the hotel and remained ten minutes. He described the woman and corroborated the evidence of the other witnesses.

Emma Schimpke came to the courtroom In the afternoon to hear Rosa Gleich im-peach her evidence given on Wednesday. Attorney Phalen-discovered her presence in the room and called her to the witness stand. When asked if she had not told Rosa Gleich she had lied on the witness stand, she replied:

"I don't remember."
"Did you not tell Harry Fidler you lied when you said you saw Mr. and Mrs. Luet-"I don't remember."

"Did you not tell Rosa Gleich you did see Mr. and Mrs. Luetgert the night of May "I may have said so."
Mrs. Mattie Sherrer, the last the day, testified positively that Emma Schimpke told her that the testimony the Schimpke girl had given on the witness stand was untrue.

During the afternoon the witness, Shol v. who had testified that he saw Mrs. Luetgert in Kenosha, and that she was woman weighing 140 pounds, announce that he desired to correct his testimony. He took the stand and delivered himself of the following:

"When I said the woman weighed 140 pounds, I meant to say she weighed about 115. I was thinking of her age when I made my former statement. "What's that?" asked State Attorney

Deneen. "I was thinking of her age, when I said she weighed 140 pounds."
"You mean, do you, that she was about 140 years old and weighed 115 pounds; is

"That's it; I was thinking of her age."
"That's all," said the state's attorney and Sholley stepped down.

Gairs Were Wiped Out. New York, September 23.-The recovery In prices which began yesterday was continued today during the earlier part of the session of the stock exchange, and the advance of prices of all stocks was apparently in full formation. close. The rise was stimulated by the announcement that a local bank had engaged $1,000,000 in gold for France for import to this country, making a total with yesterday's engagement of $2,500,000 gold due to arrive. Receipts of gold reported from San Francisco as arriving there from Australia elsa helped the recovery. The action of the ket all through by heavy buying of some of the bull operators who have been conspicuous in the recent rise. The effect of the gold import movement was largely dissipated during the day by a skepticism as to its natural character. The exchange bankers who usually handle the movement is in the New York stock market. Busiss was widely distributed and commisin houses bought, while London sold, but t to any damaging extent.

Sugar was the center of attraction, exiting a 3 per cent advance and stronger lications that the treasury department build decide to place counterrailing duties on sugar importations from Holland.
Tovering by shorts encouraged a rise in vering by shorts encouraged a rise in acco, while the local gas stocks were with the most substantial advances being scored by the grangers, the Vanderbilts and Missouri Pacific, Manhattan, the anthracite coalers, Missouri, Kansas and Texas and some of the specialties. Continued reports relative to extensive gains in railroad earnings, combined with the starting of gold this way from Europe, stimulated sentiment.

It was estimated that arbitrage houses sold 10,000 to 12,000 shares of stocks during the morning, and at one time the London range was below parity.

The general market became rather dull, and, assisted by free offerings and realizing, traders were inclined to work for a reaction.

reaction.

In the last hour profit taking was resumed and the close was not as satisfactory as early trading indicated.

The movements of Sugar exerted an influence in both directions. It advanced nearly 4 per cent on anticipation of a rulling by the treasury department in favor of imposing a countervailing duty on Holland sugars, but on the postponement of the decision the price broke to last night's closing quotations.

Tobacco advanced sharply on rumors of the acquisition of a large rival company, but it subsequently lost most of the gain. There was a spirited advance in Reading on intimations of a very favorable statement for August, and the other coal stocks sympathized with the movement.

Gold imports actually commenced and the absence of any bad news created a good tone and wide market up to the close, which was steady and about evenly divided as to gains and losses. Sugar made its usual sensational rise and fall and retained its reputation for sudden action either way and mystery.

The Post's Financial Cable. New York, September 23.—The Evening Post's London financial cablegram says: Post's London financial cablegram says: The change in the discount rate of the Renk of England announced today had no effect on the stock markets, having been fully anticipated. Indeed it is believed that the rate would have been raised to 3 per cent but for the fact that treasury bills amounting to £2,000,000 are to be issued next week.

The feature in the market today was the speedy revival in Americans, the disposition, as cabled you yesterday, here and on the continent to buy on a decline being unmistakable today. Prices closed at the best. Union Pacific and Reading were especially strong. Grand Trunk and Canada Pacific were also good. Mines were better.

Opinions as to the date of the next shipment of good.

were better.

Opinions as to the date of the next shipment of gold to New York differ widely. Every one is saying that the movement is cutirely exceptional and will probably not be repeated, but the shrewd ones prefer to hold their opinions in suspense pending the course of the New York money market. Details of the gold movement for the week show the receipt of £10,000 from Australia, the export of £150,000 to the continent, of £26,000 to Egypt and £20,000 to South America and the sale of the continent, of £26,000 to Egypt and £20,000 to South America and the sale of £764,000 in bars and eagles. Of this latter amount about £500,000 was for Russia, where a considerable industrial revival is said to be going on.

The local discount market is unsettled by the change in the bank rate, but is still comparatively easy.

New York, September 23.—By Associated Press: The cotton market opened steady with prices lower by 1@11 points, and ru el irregular and weak—at times decidedly weak for the rest of the session. Cables were a distinct disappointment, and while crop intelligence was of generally bullish purport there was a disposition on change to turn attention rather to the movement, which, according to forecasts wired from the south, is soon to be a large one. Liquidation was a feature quite early in the morning and continued so throughout the day. At the lowest point the market showed a net loss of 1@14 points. Selling was quite general, but led by southern where.

Paine, Murphy & Co.'s Cotton Letter. Atlanta, September 23.—The cotton market continues to pursue an erratic course. In view of the unfavorable crop advices now coming to hand and the reports to the effect that the yield this season is hardly likely to assume the proportions confidently expected earlier in the season, it is diffily expected earlier in the season, it is diffi-cult to understand why the market does not develop and maintain an undertone of greater strength. However, current prices are relatively low, and nearly everything in the situation appears to favor an ad-vance in values, except the absence of speculative buying power. As we have previously explained, the limited specula-tive demand and the hand to mouth policy which consumers continue to pursue are previously explained, the limited speculative demand and the hand to mouth policy which consumers continue to pursue are responsible for the failure of the market to respond to the favorable features in the situation. If reports regarding the condition of the crop continue as unfavorable as at present, it seems more than likely that they will ultimately exert their legitimate influence upon the sentiment of the trade and result in a decided increase in the demand both for consumption and speculation. Advices from Liverpool this morning were disappointing in character, an advance in that market having been looked for, whereas futures closed at a net decline of from 2½@2 3-64d. This resulted in an opening decline here of from 8 to 10 points under considerable pressure to sell both for southern account and for New York operators who bought yesterday in anticipation of a further recovery. At the decline, however, there has been fairly good buying from outside sources for account of people who consider that cotton on its merits is cheap. This buying has been sufficient to absorb the offerings and keep the market on a very steady basis. Fluctuations since the opening have been within a narrow range, the final close being 11 to 12 points under yesterday; tone barely steady. Future delivery sales, 12, 800 bales. Port receipts today 33,000 bales, against 31,642 last year. New Orleans expects tomorrow 6,000 to 8,000 bales, against 12,266 bales last year. New York spots. 6%c; sales 180 bales.

Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, September 23.—(Special.)—Liverpool furnished a great surprise this morning. That market, which was expected to be higher, after opening uplost the advance and was 2½ to 3-4d lower by the time our market opened. This report utterly discouraged the bulls, and prices here opened 8 to 11 points down, January selling on the first call at 652. There was a fair demand at the decline, and the market steadled to 6.55. Receipts continued very heavy, however, and this, together with Liverpool's discouraging attitude, proved too much for buyers and the rally was not sustained. The market sagged slowly and closed barely steady with 6.50 bid for January. Prices in the southern markets also had a downward tendency. The decline today has eradicated the more cheerful feeling of the last two days, and the market appears heavy. Crop accounts are still unfavorable, but apparently do not enter into the calculations. Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

Atwood Violett, Lockwood & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, September 23.—L'verpool gave a decided setback today by giving not only no support to our advance of yesterday, but declined materially from last night's but declined materially from last night's prices. Solling there was by a very prominent exporting American firm, probably to hedge extensive purchases on this side yesterday. The effect here was naturally to cause selling out by those who had bought on the strength of yesterday's encouragement on this side, and as buying orders were not abundant sales could only be made at considerable concession. The market closed at prices below those already realized this season. Anticipating a very unfavorable bureau we favor buying cotton on a basis of 64½ for January; although pressing needs of holders in the south may force spot prices some lower. south may force spot prices some lower. We are now about $8.50 per bale below this

We are now about the date last year. New York, September 23.—The dry goods market shows no features of the opening. Nevertheless in everything except print cloths the market remains firm. These show a tendency toward weakness, but it is thought that trading would be heavy at a slightly lower price for extras. Jobbers are experiencing a lull after the heaviest run of business in several years. Woolen goods are firm and in steady request on reorders. Silks are in fair demand at advanced prices. Reports from out-of-town show a universally good distribution at second hands and at retail. The fact that an epidemic of fever has been averted in Texas and Louisiana has resulted in mall orders which show a resumption of trading to be probable at an early date. Staple cottons are in quiet request at unchanged prices. The foreign demand continues light, and there has been a marked decrease in the production of these lines or cottons. Print cloths are nominally quoted at 2%c.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

Atlanta, September 22.—The decline in Liverpool this morning was somewhat of a surprise, but later accounted for by reports of a fireatened strike at Manchester. The mills there for some time have seen the necessity of reducing wages or running part time, and it seems, finally decided on the former course, and in consequenct a strike is threatened. Receipts at the ports of 21,-600 bales are about the same as last year, and the New Orleans and Houston estimates for tomorrow are not excessive by comparison. Southern markets are generally down 1-166% on spots. Spots at New Orleans were easy and dull and down 1-16c; sales 1.950 bales and 1.000 to arrive. Our correspondents report fields white with cotton and the fine, cold picking weather will likely cause heavy receipts for the near future, but they generally claim that crops are much shorter than has been expected. With heavy receipts, weak country markets and limited speculation we see nothing to encourage bulls at the moment, but would again say the price is not high in considering an acknowledged uncertainty of the size of the crop and would advise put hases on a scale down. Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

Southern Exchange Cotton Letter. New York, September 23.—Large selling orders for American account demoralized the Liverpool market today and caused our decline. Selling from the same source was the feature of our market with the result of causing great discouragement among holders. Crop leleas are put astice in the face of the large movement of the crop, and the indisposition of manufacturers to change their policy of buying from hand to mouth. A weaker undertone is only checked by the fear of an early frost and the bureau report, which is expected to show a condition of the crop on October 10th closely approaching 79 per cent. against 78 last month and 60 last season. The light receipts at Houston failed to sustain the market, which closed barely steady under the liquidation of a line of long cotton. A reaction should be in order abroad on the reduction in Liverpool stocks.

Opening Was Easy, but Higher Liverpool Caused Immediate Strength.

OFFERINGS WERE VERY SCARCE

The Bull Clique Ran Prices Up Over a Cent, but There Was a Later Slump.

Chicago, September 23.—The wheat mar-ket seemed to have been played with by the bull clique today. Shorts who started nto cover had to bid prices up 11/2c before they were cleared up. Heavy offerings broke the price to a point ½c below yes-terday's close. December closed as ¼T¼c decline. A weakening factor was the adding of the May discount. Corn closed % 6% lower. Oats closed a shade lower and prowisions declined 5@71/c.
Wheat at the immediate opening was easy. Curb prices were inclined to weak-ness on account of a rather sharp decline at Paris, but the higher quotations from Liverpool caused the market to turn strong at once. December, which closed yesterday at 92%, opened today at from 92% @92%c. The shorts started for cover, but ran up against a snag in the shape of scarcity of offerings, the price being hoisted to 93%c before any wheat of consequence came on the market. The northwest receipts were again heavy, and that caused holders to exercise caution, so that when the price had risen to 93%c plenty of wheat showing a profit was unloaded. Receipts at Minneapolis and Duluth were 1,333 cars, compared with 901 a week ago and 806 the at the close was somewhat heavy. Some of the larger traders are bearish on corn, and are keeping on the short side, increasing their lines on the bulges and covering in a moderate way on the breaks. Provisions have been easier. The outside trade is very slow on account of the yellow fever. Packers were moderate sellers of January product, and there was some liquitation of pork brought out. tended prohibiting the export of wheat was revived again about the time the Paris closing cables were received, showing a complete recovery from the early decline. This sent December skyward again, the price climbing with hardly a halt to 933c. At that price a big trade was done, large quantities of wheat being dumped on the market. The offerings were readily absorbed for a time, but in the end the weight proved greater than the market could bear, the market becoming quite weak when explicit denials of the Russian reports were received. A noticeable feature during the advance was the refusal of May to respond except in an extremely unwilling and backward fashion. When December was readily bringing 93%c the May option barely touched 91%c, and a house with close Liverpool connections said they had liberal selling orders from the latter place for May delivery. Export clearances of wheat and flour from Atlantic ports were equal to 440. ing orders from the latter place for May delivery. Export clearances of wheat and flour from Atlantle ports were equal to 40,000 bushels. Receipts for today at the four principal outside winter wheat markets-Kansas City, St. Louis, Toledo and Detroit-were only 182,000 bushels out of a total primary market receipts which amounted to 1,276,000 bushels. The latest trading in December was at 224,423%. There was a smaller business in corn. The market averaged firm all the foremon, starting is higher on light receipts and

The market averaged irm all the forenoon, starting \(\frac{1}{3} \) chigher on light receipts and steadiness of Liv\(\frac{1}{3} \) consists and steadiness of Liv\(\frac{1}{3} \) corn followed very willingly. Receipts were 485 cars. Attantic exports were 345.391 bushels. There were claims of accumulation of stocks at eastern points. The shipping demand was slow. December ranged from 31\(\frac{1}{3} \) 30\(\frac{1}{3} \) colors of the trading. Then that market struck a slippery place, too, and dropped with the rest of the market. There was an excellent shipping demand, which was made responsible for the buoyancy displayed. Sympathy with wheat and corn caused the decline. Receipts were 305 cars and charters were for 635,000 bushels. December ranged between 21\(\frac{1}{3} \) colors about \(\frac{1}{3} \) colors. The incubus of the yellow fever epidemic weighed down the provision market. Prices started weak on that account and through

The incubus of the yellow fever epidemic veighed down the provision market. Prices tarted weak on that account and through ympathy with a weak hog market, the narket ruled heavy all day. Cash trade was only moderate. There was very little utside trading. A moderate line of long ork was flyc lower at $8.32½, December lard 5c ower at $4.62½ and December ribs 5c lower $4.90.

at $4.90. Estimated receipts Friday: Wheat, 220 cars; corn, 600 cars; oats, 325 cars; hogs, 21,000 head.

Swanson & Co.'s Grain Letter.

Swanson & Co.'s Grain Letter.

Atlanta, September 23.—Early cables as a whole were disappointing in view of our le advance yesterday. Liverpool responded with an advance, but Parls was weak and cabled prices 35/40 centimes lower. Berlin was also weak caused, it was said, by heavy offerings of Russian wheat. December wheat strated weak and unchanged to %colower, and there was some hesitation on this account. However, the market turned surprisingly strong almost imendiately. The bulls were looking for something to substantiate the sudden upturn and finally attributed it to private cables from good anthorities that the Russian government would soon prohibit the exportation of wheat from Russia. The market was evidently heavily short, and in spite of the bearishness of early cables, covering was quite active. December started at $2½ to $25/4c, and then advanved to 33c again. The market became quiet and remained very steady, fluctuations being confined within a narrow range for some time. Northwest receipts were again heavy. In the last fiften market closed at $24/4c.

Puts on December wheat $95/8c; calls $35/8c.

Paine, Murphy & Co.'s Grain Letter. Atlanta, September 23.—It took the greater part of the day's session to advance the wheat market 13c, and but a very short time to cause a decline of over a cent per bushel, rather indicating that the undertone wheat market 12c, and but a very short time to cause a decline of over a cent per bushel, rather indicating that the undertone to the market is not as strong as fluctuations at this time would indicate, and from all the appearances a great many traders are afraid of the long side, while holders are not disposed to wait for too large a profit. The trading today was large and mainly between professionals, who were both buying and selling to a considerable extent. New York for the most part was bullish, and created a demand from scalpers, but the tendency was to scalp and on the bugies good selling occurred. A steady feeling at the close yesterday was carried over to this morning and, although opening figures were at a slight discount, there was no concerted action to sell. Northwestern receipts were large, but advices from the northwest to the effect that threshing returns are disappointing served as an offset. Liverpool closed firm and unchanged to 3d higher than yesterday, and advices from there reported French buying of cargoes off coast. There was also a cable from $t$. Petersburg predicting that the Russian government would prohibit the exportation of wheat from that country, and for a few minutes created quite a stir among shorts, but it was not taken seriously by the general trade. Clearances were moderate. The close was rather weak, %6%c below yesterday.

The trade in corn was rather slow. There was some strength early on the advance in wheat, but the demand was not large enough to take care of the offerings which the advance brought out, and the feeling

Amount and Value of Sugar Imported.

Washington, September 23.—A statement has been prepared at the bureau of statistics of the treasury department which shows approximately the amount and value of sugars which last year were imported from the countries now paying an export bounty on sugar and upon which the department yesterday declared a countervailing duty equal to the bounty paid. The statement shows the total imports of dutiable sugar during the last fiscal year to have been 4.288.572.584 pounds, testing not above No. 16 Dutch standard and valued at $90.973.652, and $2.831.103 pounds testing above 16 and valued at $4.925.150. Of these totals 1.694.225.071 pounds, valued at $29.844.019, were imported from Germany; 105.128.148 pounds, valued at $1.421.317, from Austria-Hungary; 46.940.759 pounds, valued at $1.75.757, from Argentine Republic, and 92.169.241 pounds, valued at $1.421.317, from France. The sugar imported from Argentine Republic was of cane exclusively, and that from the other countries was of beet exclusively. The figures for the importations from the Netherlands are not at hand. REPUBLICAN MOON RED WITH BLOOD

Rucker Goes After Tom Blodgett for an Explanation.

SAID BLODGETT THREATENED

Accused Tom of Saying That He Would Kill Buck and Rucker.

PLOT TO MUB HIM, SAYS BLODGETT

Claims That Rucker and Five Friends Shut Him Up in a Room and Two of the Men Had Big Pistols.

Republican politics in Atlanta assumed a lurid color yesterday netning.

For an hour very warlike demonstration were being made around the office of Mar-shal W. H. Johnson in the custom house, and it is said that bloodshed was house, and it is said that bloodsned was narrowly averted. Tom Blodgett clashed with the regular republican leaders and the situation was very critical. Collector Rucker brought the very tick-if necessary.

Rucker had heard that Blodgett had threatened his life and he decided, as a matter of convenience to Blodgett, to send for him and have the execution in the custem house. He accordingly sent for Blod-gett, and taking him into Mr. Walter Johnson's office and in the presence of Mr. Ripard, Mr. Johnson, Deputies Alex Mattison and Bartow Carter and Charley Thomas, called Blodgett down for making his threats. Rucker was very cool about the whole affair and showed a perfect willing-ness to oblige Blodgett should that gentle-man evince any disposition to carry out his alleged threat.

all against him and that the six men were all against him and that he being unarmed was helpless. He said that one of the men had his hand on a pistol during the exincident.

Johnson says that Rucker asked Biodgett if he had made the threats and that Biodgett denied them and said he didn't want to kill any one. Rucker was Blodgett Talks About It.

Mr. Blodgett made the following statement of the affair:
"Yesterday morning I was in the hall of the custom house just outside United States Marshal Johnson's office when Mr. Rucker and Bartow Carter went into Johnson's office. Rucker stated that he did. went there fully expecting, in accordance with Rucker's promises, that he, Rucker, had gone there for the purpose of consulting with Mr. Johnson as to my appointment as deputy collector at Canton, Ga.

Then Rucker talked consider ably about my attack on the administra-ion and about my speaking in the state of thio against Mark Hanna, and said that Hanna was the best friend he had and that which I replied that it was his prerogative to appoint or not as he pleased, but that he had no right to endeavor to buildoze or humiliate me in Walter Johnson's office: that I had not been in the office for more than a month, since the publication of my letter, nor would I have come in there had Interest of the property of th an apology for his action, and the first op-portunity that presents itself I will cer-tainly ask him to make it. with the president and looked to Walter Johnson and Judson Lyons to help him. They appeared to be unable to secure the audienfce for him, however, and he had about lost hope when he was ushered into the president's private office. It was cabithe building, however, and was told that the president was willing to talk to him.

McKinley gave him a patient hearing, but did not promise to grant any request asked for by the divine. Mr. Merrell is a retired army chaplain, but is seeking a position in one of the government departents. He was highly elated when told that he might see the president and went

During the brief conversation he undertook to review the general political situation in this state, touching on the Ho gansville matter at some length. He told the president that while the appointment of Judson Lyons to the Augusta postoffice would be extremely distasteful to the peo-ple of that city, yet he would make a good

McKinley said he was being troubled not a little by the Augusta matter and in-tended giving it his careful consideration before making any appointment. Mr. Merrell brought up the subject of a chaplain of the army, stating that he underlain of the army, stating that he understood a vacancy was soon to occur. He mentioned Rev. A. T. Ellington, of this city, for the vacancy, and urged his appointment. He commended Dr. Ellington in such exalted terms that the president remarked with a smile: "If Mr. Ellington is such a great and good minister as you say he is I think it would be unwise to take him away from his church." This closed the conversation and the minister left the capitol. The result of the interview will be watched with interest in Atlanta.

YARDS MUST BE KEPT CLEAN. Recorder Calhoun Takes Occasion To Make an Announcement.

Two negro women were arraigned in the police court yesterday afternoon for violating a sanitary ordinance, and Judge Andy Calhoun took occasion to make a little senitary speech woman's Missionary Conference.
The annual conference of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the North Atlanta district, will convene in Edgewood Methodist church, in Edgewood, tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, continuing through Sunday. Rev. H. L. Gray, a returned missionary, will address the conference on Saturday. Delegates from the various charges in the district will be present. The public is cordially invited to attend all the services. The preachers of the city are especially invited to be present. Those in vogue since President Wadley's day have been modernized and brought up to date. It is no secret that shippers and connections had complaints. Mr. Egan has sought to popularize the road with its patrons. He is a man of wonderful energy and personal magnetism. He is everywhere over the system. Employees say that he is liable to turn up anywhere at any time and particularly when he is not expected. He keeps a close watch on the business coming and going and on the operation of the lines. The Central's connections testify that Mr. Egan keeps his agreements. When he promises to do a thing he does it and demands that his representatives shall keep faith with the public and other roads. He is aggressive in seeking business, but is suave with it. When he decides he is firm. He is broad, liberal and considerate. This is the reputation which all who do business with him give to him. the presidency if it does come about, a railway official said vesterday:

"The Central is a great property. For a life time it was the largest system in the state, and it still has more mileage in Georgia than any other road. Under its old management, the Central would not recognize any other road as having rights It did not pay any attention to some com-munities. At last the day came when the policy had to be changed for its own good. It was hard for the men who had been in the service all their lives to recognize their new conditions. I think that was one reason a new man was brought into the situation. Mr. Comer probably wanted to retire. He is very wealthy. Mr. Egan had a brilliant record in the west. Then he had worked with and against such men there as Mr. St. John, of the Seaboard; Mr. Finley, of the Southern, and Mr. Smith, of the Atlanta and West Point. Railroading is something like chess. You learn the other man's method of play by association. So Mr. Egan was offered the vice presidency of the Cen-

There is absolutely nothing in the talk about the Southern controlling the Cen-tral. The same people may be interested in both companies, but the Southern and Seaboard have security holders in com-mon, too, and they certainly are not twin systems. The Central and the Southern fight each other for business as hard as they fight any other road. I have known the Southern to refuse to let the Central do things it wanted to do and I have known the Central to squeeze the last dollar it could get out of the Southern on a trade. Whenever the Central gets the Southern where it must have some-thing, it makes the Southern pay well. The Southern wanted the use of the Central's depot in Griffin and the Central made it pay well. If there had been any domination, the Southern would certainly have exercised it. They have had a dis-pute in Macon for a year about some property. The Central gives nearly all its westbound business in Atlanta to the Western and Atlantic, although the Southern has a line running from Atlanta to Chattanooga. If the Central would turn its westbound business over to the South-ern here, it would be worth many thousand dollars a year, maybe $100,000 annually. At Athens, Atlanta, Griffin, Columbus, Macon, Fort Valley and Birmingham the Southern and the Central are the sharpest competitors, and every shipper knows it. Everything shows that the two roads are operated independently and each for all everything shows that the two roads are operated independently and each for all it can get legitimately. It may be that PRICES 10, 20 AND 30 CENTS.

some people have large investments in both properties. The Southern is com-monly understood to have an interest in the Central, but the Central is not con-trolled by the Southern. The Central was relieved of most of its dead lines in the reorganization, and now has a compact reorganization and now has a compact system traversing a good territory. It is being economically managed and I believe firmly that whoever may be president will work it structly for the Central.
"There have been some changes in the Central's working force and there are rumors of others, but Mr. Egan has only one thing in view, and that is to build up the system and give its patrons the best service the company can afford."

Why He Was Absent.

Colorel L. N. Trammell received a tele-gram yesterday from Commissioner Allen Fort stating that he was detained in Americus by the serious illness of two of his children. This explained the commissioner's absence from Wednesday's meeting of the Hartwell Road Lowered.

THE TRIAL OF JOHN DORMAN AFTER THE OFFICE HOLDERS

A Youth Who Met a Woman and Drank Bottled Beer.

ATTORNEY BISHOP DOES THE ROASTING

Dorman Tried on Two Charges-One Case Dismissed and He Not Found Guilty in the Other.

The trial of John Dorman, the proprieto of the Central hotel, in the police court yesterday afternoon took some sensational

The sensational features were brought out and commented on by Attorney Thomas L. In the evidence for the city it was shown that Dorman had been trapped by two attaches of the police barracks, who were given money by the city detectives to rent rooms for themselves and two women of a bad character, and money was also fur-nished for the purchase of beer. One of the young men is a minor and stated that he was under twenty-one years of age. Attorncy Bishop made this his text for giving the city detectives a pretty lively roast. There were two cases against Dorman, one for seiling beer without license and the rracks had gone to the hotel previously and met two women of notoriously bad character. While in the rooms with the women the young man sent out and bought eight bottles of beer, which they he detectives and the numbers were in his way known. It was shown that Dorman was present when the women went to the house, and afterwards went to the rooms and took the money for four bottles of beer. One of the women in the case stated that e had gone to the Central hotel with other men and Dorman knew it.

An ex-housekeeper swore that she had

An ex-housekeeper swore that she had left the place because her friends told her the reputation of the hotel was bad and the place was apt to be raided by the po

Dorman proved that the beer bought by the two men and the two women last Tuesday night came from a saloon near by and that he had none in the hotel. Attorney Bishop then made his speech and he gave the detectives a red-hot roast for making a minor engage in any such for making a minor engage in any such business. In his remarks he said:

"I think it simply infamous for the officers to use the city's money for any such purpose. To think, if your honor please, of getting a minor, and an employee of the city at that, to debauch himself for the purpose of trying to prove the reputation of this place. If this hotel is such a playe as these officers say it is why couldn't they prove it without resorting to any such reprehensible tactics. Debauching a youth with beer and lewd women to cona youth with beer and lewd women to convict a man, and using the city's money to do it with, that is the way this case presents itself to me. I hope your honor will not convict upon any such testimony." The recorder decided that there was no vidence of Dorman having sold the beer and dismissed that case; in the other, he at first announced he would enter a fine of $100, and upon Attorney Bishop announcing that an appeal might be taken and asking for time in which to get out the proper papers, Judge Calhoun said he would simply reserve his decision until today when he reserve his decision until today when he would hear from Mr. Bishop as to what he thought the amount of the fine should

Was Perfected Yesterday.

Liberal Club Says Political Offices Should Go to Young Men.

THE PURPOSE OF THE CLUB CUTLINED

Organized Fight Will Be Mede on Those Officials Who Have Held Office Several Terms.

The city and county officeholders who have held office several terms must now face a new foe. The Liberal Club, a secret order com posed of about 400 young men of the city, has been organized to oppose those officials who have been rotating in office. This announcement has come officially from a member of the new organization who asks that his name be withheld for business reasons. The club has just been organized and a membership list opened, containing nearly 400 names of some of the best known young men of the city:

A number of letters were sent out yes club and declaring the purpose of its members. This letter has been in circulation several days, it is said, but the matter has been kept secret until yesterday. In a day or two the new organization will hold meeting in its hall on Peachtree street and will indorse a ticket in the present

The letter to members is as follows: "There has been quietly growing for a long time a feeling that there has been too Indee has been quictly growing for a long time a feeling that there has been too much domination of the city and county affairs by a gang of macnine politicians who simply rotate in office, and whose tenure in office is never varied other than by stepping out of one office and in to another. In the factional wrangling among themselves the good of the city has been lost sight of, and of this the average citizen has grown tired, and out of the muttening of discontent which has been growing for several years, was crystallized the Laberal Club, whose object and aim is to do away with factional rule, and put good, competent business men in-control of the city and county affairs. One of its cardinal principles is to disbelieve that all the wisdom and ability lie under the hat of the professional politician. And by nature of his calling he is debarred from membership in the above order.

Had a Watch To Pawn-The Recorder Fines Him $3 and Then Agrees To Let Him Off.

J. R. Moore landed in Atlanta from New Orleans a few days ago with a few doilars and a health certificate in his pecket. Wednesday afternoon he called at a store on Decatur street and tried to pawn his silver watch for $1.25. He was offered 50 cents for it.

Moore had been drinking and he became noisy and quarrelsome when he found out that his watch wasn't good for more than eave and instead of doing so he stuck his nose into the proprietor's supper and said:

"You eat limberger, don't you?"
He became so turbulent that the store-keeper, with the assistance of a friend, pushed him into the street.

Moore's New Orleans blood was warmed up by this time and he shoved his hand into his hip pocket and made motions as if he ntended to draw a pistol. intended to draw a pistel.

To accuse a man of eating limberger and then to shoot him was a little more than some people could stand, and an officer was sent for and the Crescent City citizen was turned over to a policeman. He was tried n the recorder's court yesterday afternoon and fined $3.

Moore went close up to the recorder's desk and made a piteous appeal for mercy, and as he was a vellow fever refugee the recorder agreed to let him go scot free.

THIS SMALL ERROR HAS CAUSED SUIT

They Gave a Minor Money To Trap a Organization of Young Business Men Insurance Commissioner Wright Defen dant in a Racy Litigation.

$5,000 THE AMOUNT SUED FOR

Executor of the Will of McArdler, of Columbus, Wants Reparation.

MANY UNIQUE LEGAL POINTS INVOLVED Commissioner Wright Acknowledged

Service Through Mistake Which Caused Serious Complication.

Suit for $5,000 was yesterday filed against

Mr. W. A. Wright, insurance commission er for the state of Georgia, by Thomas F er for the state of Georgia, by Thomas F. Farley, executor of the last will and testament of the late Francis Joseph McArdle, of Muscogee county. The suit was filed through Messrs. Dorsey, Brewster & Howell, and Brannon, Hatcher & Martin, and is directed to the city court. In many respects the suit is remarkable. It is based upon a letter written by Commissioner Wright to Mr. Farley several months ago in regard to the service of a suit which was brought against an insurance company with no office in Georgia.

Twelve months ago Mr. McArdle died, leaving a will and a considerable estate. Among the estate papers was an insurance policy for $5,000 upon his life in the Empire Life Insurance Company of New York. This policy was taken some time before the death of Mr. McArdle, and the company was then known as the Home Benefit Society of New York, changing its name later to the former. Demand was made upon the company for a payment of the policy, but the company bad an office in Atlanta, and if not, who was legaliy appointed to acknowledge service for the company. oringing any action against the company or the collection of the amount of the oiley.
When Mr. Wright acknowledged service in the original suit, he was under the im-ression that it was the Empire Insurance lociety. He was the duly constituted agent Society. He was the duly constituted agent of the latter company, but was not authorized to acknowledge service for the Empire Insurance Company, dhe company against which the suit was brought. The filing of the suit against Mr. Wright may raise a number of intricate legal points, and the case will naturally excite a great leaf of attention when it comes up for disposition.
